

Why Losberger De Boer? 7 reasons for choosing quality.

The Losberger De Boer brand is dedicated to providing first-class products with an exceptional level of service. From design and engineering to development and delivery, whether it's an event tent, industrial hall or modular building solution, Losberger De Boer will be at your side every step of the way.

At Losberger De Boer we believe in exceptional quality. We set ourselves the highest standards, reflected in our everyday work – whether it's manufacturing a small component or providing an outstanding level of service.

1 Certified German Engineering.

Quality management systems, the latest technology and exceptional housekeeping ensure all Losberger De Boer components are manufactured with an extraordinary level of precision and quality. These are the reasons why Losberger De Boer can provide a warranty on all essential components of our mobile space solutions. Needless to say, our design, manufacturing and assembling have been officially certified, giving our customers peace of mind.

Simple installation, low maintenance costs: Losberger De Boer quality always pays off in the long run.

2 Lower Total Cost of Ownership.

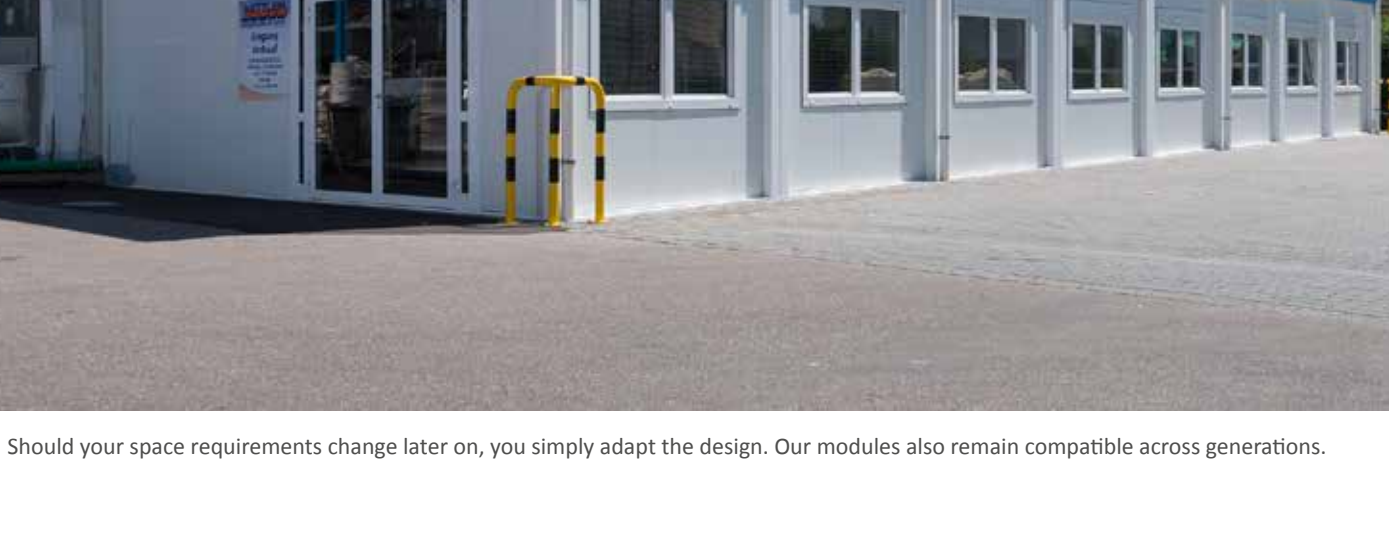

When faced with a purchasing decision, buyers should not just look at the purchase price, but also at the long-term cost of ownership. By choosing quality over quantity and value over cost, Losberger De Boer customers benefit from considerably lower maintenance costs, longer operational lifespan and better product performance. High precision manufacturing ensures easier and faster installation. All these factors result in a lower total cost of ownership (TCO).

Losberger De Boer space solutions are a better long term investment, holding their value.

3 Higher Stability of Value.

In addition to providing a lower total cost of ownership, Losberger De Boer products are known for holding their value. Slow depreciation renders Losberger De Boer products a more attractive investment, recognised by the wider industry as having a high stability of value. This is reflected in the second hand market.

Full flexibility when it comes to your space requirements: Our modular design gives you the freedom you need.

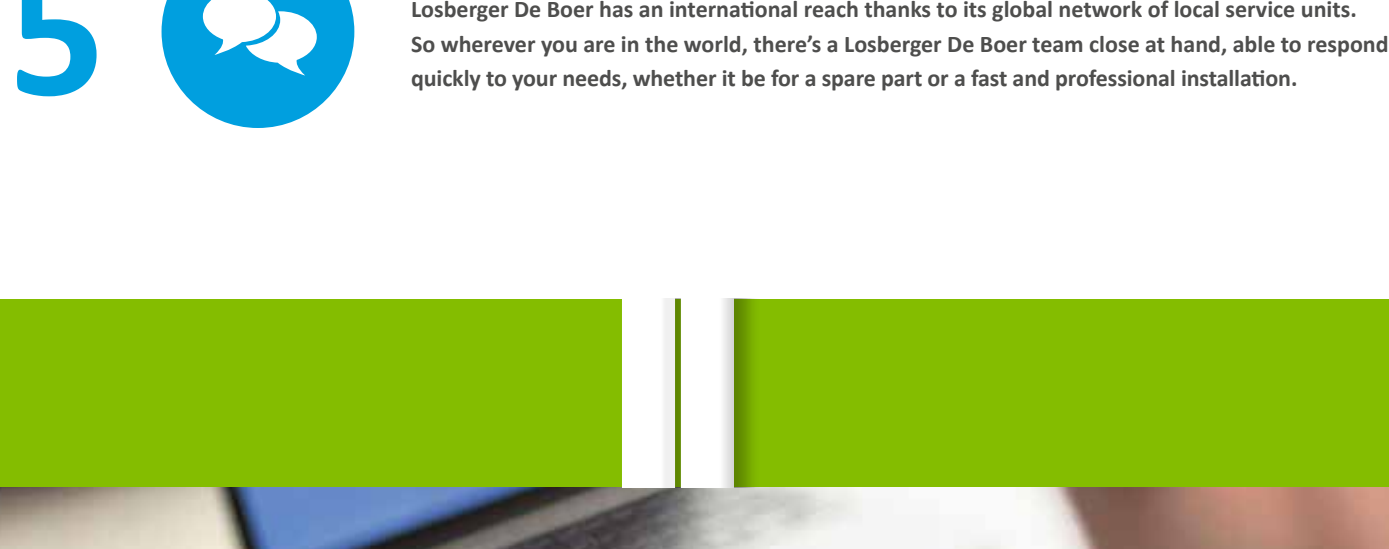

Should your space requirements change later on, you simply adapt the design. Our modules also remain compatible across generations.

4 Maximum Flexibility.

Thinking ahead: The clever modular and compatible designs of all Losberger De Boer's mobile space solutions allow you to quickly, easily and cost-effectively adapt your event tent, industrial hall or modular building to your individual needs. The compatibility of all our technologies guarantees you flexibility for the future, without compromise.

If you need a rapid and uncomplicated space solution, we are on site – no matter where this location is.

5 Always at Hand, Quick to Respond.

Losberger De Boer has an international reach thanks to its global network of local service units. So wherever you are in the world, there's a Losberger De Boer team close at hand, able to respond quickly to your needs, whether it be for a spare part or a fast and professional installation.

Reassuring quality: It's good to know that essential parts have been x-rayed and thoroughly checked for defects and faults.

Concentrate on your core business. We'll take care of the rest.

6 The Peace of Mind that a Genuine Product Gives.

Knowing that everything has been done to ensure the safe and smooth delivery of your project is a reassuring position to be in. Take comfort from the fact that your products are from a reputable manufacturer, relieving you of responsibility and allowing you to focus on your own tasks.

A pioneer for 100 years: Our experience helps us to develop smarter solutions.

7 Comprehensive Experience.

From the first aluminum tent construction in 1974 to the first self-supporting aluminum construction with a 60 m clear span width in 2015: Losberger De Boer has been a pioneer in developing new mobile space solutions for 100 years. Valuable experience that our customers directly benefit from with every product or service they purchase.

What our customers say:

The quality of the Losberger De Boer products endures the ever-changing conditions of Colorado. From the heat of the summer to the sub-zero conditions of the Rocky Mountain winters, the Losberger De Boer brand withstands all the elements.

For our project, Losberger De Boer provided a hall customised to the customers' wishes, and we supplied the office systems to go with this – thus there were many interfaces to be coordinated. The project ran in perfect harmony across all instances from the beginning to the end. The Losberger De Boer project manager was incredibly flexible in finding a time window, and always approachable and available on the spot. I am very satisfied with the cooperation – and the outstanding result!
